Confirms that the company
PRS Poland Sp. z.o.o.

During 2007/2008 provided a technical solution for the anti-erosion bank surface protection for the task "The rebuilding of Glogowska street in Poznan, within the national route no. 5" based on the Geocell Cellular Confinement System PRS NEOWEB™ NWS 100 76PS and carried out deliveries on site.

Size of order: 14,000 m².

Our decision to work together was determined by their personal and professional attitude of PRS Poland in face of specific requirements posed by the task in hand. We received an attractive technical solution as well as expert instruction, assistance and help of PRS Poland employees during the installation of the PRS NEOWEB™ system, which made the work of the installing teams significantly more effective by optimizing the task completion time. The deliveries of materials were completed effectively and according to expectations, and when required, within 48 hours. The delivered geocell material fulfilled all technical and quality requirements.

An uncomplicated and rapid installation, effective bank protection, a significant reduction in investment costs as well as the application of fasteners as an effective means of section joining are some of the most important benefits of the PRS NEOWEB™ system.

Bearing the above in mind, we have every confidence in recommending the PRS Poland Ltd. company as a trustworthy partner, who is able to guarantee professional help with the design and execution of this type of task, and the PRS NEOWEB™ system as the answer to the requirement for an effective, rapid installation, and economically attractive anti-erosion bank protection system.
